Tutoring Experience

Over the last 12 years, I have worked extensively with IB students, helping them navigate Psychology at both SL and HL levels. I've supervised Extended Essays and guided students in exploring areas like cognitive psychology and biostatistics. My teaching journey has also included preparing A-Level and AP students for their exams, ensuring top-notch results.

Having transitioned to online tutoring in recent years, I now work with international students from Europe, Asia, and the Americas. My experience includes developing data analysis skills and linking theoretical concepts to practical applications in Psychology. I enjoy supporting students in mastering this engaging and challenging subject.
