Tutoring Experience

Over the past three years, I have tutored students from diverse educational backgrounds, helping them excel in IB Business Management and related subjects. I specialise in breaking down key business concepts, such as operations management and strategic planning, to prepare students for both exams and practical applications.

My experience extends to teaching A-Level and IGCSE students, where I focus on bridging academic theory with real-world examples. My goal is to help students develop a robust understanding of business principles, empowering them to excel both academically and professionally.
